

Zócalo La Pampa Chimichurri Sauce

Chimichurri sauce is legendary in Argentine culinary history. It was born in the rural areas with each family producing its own unique concoction as an accompaniment to roasted meat, and has become integral to the ubiquitous parrillada, or Argentine barbeque. La Pampa, from the Quechua word for “plain,” is the fertile lowlands of central Argentina renown for raising exceptional cattle and where our La Pampa Chimichurri hails from.
